The first 49 customers will get their homes designed at a regular fee without any extra celebrity charges.

Bonito Designs, an interior design company, has introduced a campaign to redefine the concept of personalised home aesthetics. Renowned designers Gauri Khan and Manish Malhotra are set to engage in an interior design face-off, providing customers with a unique opportunity to select and shape their dream homes with Bonito Designs.

The campaign launched on December 1, 2023, invites customers to participate in an exclusive design selection process between Gauri and Manish. The customers will enjoy the privilege of having their dream homes designed at a regular fee, without incurring the customary celebrity designer charges.

They can choose their preferred aesthetic from a selection of exclusive designs of Gauri Khan and Manish Malhotra for Bonito Designs.

Amit Parsuramka, CEO, Bonito Designs, expressed, "This collaboration symbolises Bonito Designs' unwavering commitment to offering our clients not just spaces but experiences that transcend the ordinary. Gauri and Manish bring Gauri said, "This unique campaign empowers individuals to actively shape their dream homes by choosing between our distinctive design aesthetics. Having been associated with Bonito Designs for over a year, I've witnessed the brand's commitment to innovation and personalised design solutions. Through this collaboration, we invite you to make your space truly yours."

Malhotra added, "The campaign goes beyond the conventional, allowing individuals to actively engage in the design process and choose between our signature aesthetics and the opportunity to make your home a true reflection of who you are. Join us in this extraordinary journey as we redefine the landscape of interior design together."
